Interview 1 Notes

Question 1: What hobbies or recreational activities have you participated in recently?
Answer: “Tochito (flag football), soccer and a bit of boxing. I mostly do physical activities.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 2: How recently have you participated in those activities? Are you currently doing them at the moment, or were they something you did before?
Answer: “Last month, I haven’t done them since last month. I have been busy with school work.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 3 (Follow-up to Q2): How was it the last time you participated? Where did you go to, what happened when you got there, how do you set up?
Answer: “I usually do it in Juarez. They’re usually like small centers where you could play sports. If not I just go with my friends to play tochito.” “There’s boxing trainers next to where I live when I do boxing.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 4 (Follow-up to Q3): How do you find out about those locations, do you see them on the street, or online?
Answer: “In the street. The recreational places where I play tochito and soccer were recommended by a friend.” “The boxing is near where I live.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 5 (Follow-up to Q4): Have you recommended those places to a friend?
Answer: “Not really”
Tag: Behavior

Question 6 (Follow-up to Q5): Would you recommend those places to a friend?
Answer: “I’m gatekeeping, and I have people. I don’t like waiting.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 7: Has there been anything that let you know that you are actually getting better or improving?
Answer: “In Toshito I’m able to dodge pretty well, and in soccer I’m defense, so I guess I was getting better at that. For box, I just have to be able to kind of move, but we mostly train resistance and HIITs.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 8: You mentioned you have a trainer, so how does the trainer give you feedback on your performance?

Answer: “They usually put us in groups and make us do different activities.” “When I’m on the bean bags they usually correct my posture when I’m punching.” “After an our we switch [activities].” “They make us do planks for the last 15 minutes.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 9 (Follow-up to Q8): And for all those activities that you do for example planks, do you have a way to keep track of how much you did those activities?
Answer: “Not really, we mostly do five rounds of each and if you are done before everyone else is done, you do it again.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 10 (Follow-up to Q4): Are those classes free?
Answer: “No, I usually pay for those.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 11: If there was a way to actually track, that you could actually see your improvement, for example, through statistics. How would that look like to you?
Answer: “Like an app that can track steps. But I don’t really see how it could show how much I have improved. If I see it physically.“ If they see it physically they associate it with improvement. “But usually I don’t really keep track.”
Tag: Opinion

Question 12: How many people have you seen that they went in but dropped out because they felt that they were not progressing?
Answer: “Probably two, and I never saw them again.”
Tag: Opinion

Question 13: For all these sports, did you ever get any achievement, recognitions or any trophies?
Answer: “No, Tochito and soccer I usually do them because it’s fun.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 14: Were there any difficulties in getting into those recreational activities? Were there any struggles when you try to get into them for the first time?
Answer: “I wouldn’t say no. For someone that would start at the beginning, like when it comes to hard physical training it could be hard to get into the rhythm of the stuff.”
Tag: Opinion

Question 15: What are some specific tools, or equipment that you needed to get yourself in order to participate in those recreational activities?
Answer: “We have to buy [hand] wraps.” The rest of the equipment, like the gloves and weights were provided.
Tag: Behavior

Question 16: Do you think it would make a difference if you were taking said classes with an instructor online?
Answer: “I can definitely see it work for some people, but because it is more hands-on I prefer in person. But I can see it working for someone online as long as they have the materials to do it especially when it comes to physical activities like box because you need gloves, a punching bag and in some cases a training buddy.”

Interview 2 Notes

Question 1: What hobbies or recreational activities have you participated in recently?
Answer: “Lately I have been playing piano.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 2: When was the last time you participated in those activities?
Answer: “It was a pretty long time ago, actually. Like, three months ago.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 3: The last time you participated in that activity, can you walk me through that?
Answer: “I was part of the piano class, and we had a end of the year concert.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 4: For that activity, how did you know you were improving, or making progress?
Answer: “At first I learned the piece, but I didn’t learn it all. So, next year I spent like a month working on it and I was able to get it.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 5: Did you record or document anything from that activity?
Answer: “I think I did.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 6 (Follow-up to Q5): What was it that you recorded?
Answer: “Me playing and a couple of my other friends playing.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 7 (Follow-up to Q6): And where did you keep that recording?
Answer: “In photos [gallery].”
Tag: Behavior

Question 8: What methods or tools have you used to keep track of your activities or achievements?
Answer: “Mostly by the amount I do. I also do jewlery, so it’s mostly by the amount I make.”

Tag: Behavior

Question 9 (Follow-up to Q8): And did you have any difficulties with that method of tracking?
Answer: “Yeah it’s kind of hard to know if you are actually improving. I would rather see how long they last, or ask other people if I’m improving.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 10: For the current methods that you are using, what would stop you from using that methods? What do you think would help you track it better?
Answer: “Probably writing it down. I don’t write down a lot of things, and I tend to forget like a lot.”
Tag: Opinion

Question 11: For those activities, how much time did you spent documenting or reviewing your progress?
Answer: “Zero. It’s mostly all in my head.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 12: Do you pay for any tools, subscriptions, or services to keep track of them?”
Answer: “No, but at one point I saw a piano app and I was considering it, but then I just didn’t do it.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 13: Do you know anyone else that participated in some activities that you like to do, that they do like to keep track of their activities? And if so, what do they keep track of?
Answer: “I have one friend that she also played the piano. To keep track of her progress she records all of her time she plays and actually understands when she’s improving or not.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 14: For the jewlery activity, how do you know that you are getting better?
Answer: “Because I get more creative.”
Tag: Opinion

Question 15: What keeps you interested in participating in those activities?
Answer: “To be able to wear it.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 16: Where do you find the resources to actually start getting into those activities, or to learn new techniques?
Answer: “For piano, I actually found a spare keyboard under my grandma’s bed, so I just started playing it and started practicing. For jewlery, I was supposed to make these earring for my mom, and then she liked them, and I liked them. So she just bought more things for me, and I started getting more into it.”
Tag; Behavior

Question 17: Did anyone teach you jewlery or did you look it up online?
Answer: “No, I kind of guessed.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 18: Would you ever consider online courses to learn more or for any other activity?
Answer: “Yes, I also want to try learning drawing and see a bunch of courses.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 19: Have you ever wanted to share your progress to someone else? Or how do you usually share what you did with other people?
Answer: “I really don’t share. I mostly keep it to myself because then I feel more pressured to do be better.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 20 (Follow-up to Q19): Is that something you would like to overcome, eventually start sharing to people?
Answer: “Yes.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 21: With people that have shared with you, usually how do they share what they have accomplished with any recreational activity that they have participated in?
Answer: “Friend shared videos and went to see her in person. She shared her notes [music sheet].”

Interview 3 Notes

Question 1: What hobbies or recreational activities have you participated in recently?
Answer: “Recently, for recreational activities I've been golfing. Aside from that, just leisure time, so, like, whether it's, like, going to the movies or just, like, staying at home.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 2: When was the last time you participated in one of those activities?
Answer: “Like two months ago.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 3: Can you walk me through the last time you participated in said activity?
Answer: “I pick up, of course that I want to go to, and then I just schedule a teatime is what it's called. And then you just show up on time so you don't get a penalty fee. People usually have the option of playing nine holes or 18, and I played 18 that day.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 4 (Follow-up to Q3): How do you schedule it?
Answer: “You just call the golf course, or you could do it online, just depending on what services the golf course offers. Or also just showing up in person.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 5: How did you recognize or knew you were improving or actually making progress?
Answer: “Just through practice. If I don't go play golf, I'll also go to a local driving range, just to go hit some balls, and just practicing on the swings.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 6: Do you keep track of how much progress you've made?
Answer: “Not really, just through memory and comparing previous times I’ve gone golfing, or going to the range. If anything, I'll record myself, so I can get to see what it look like when I’m swinging.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 7:What difficulties if any did you experience with this sort of tracking?
Answer: “Looking at two different videos, I would say I’m I really progressing? Or being able to see any small details where I'm making an improvement or, trying to point out where, I need to adjust.”
Tag: Opinion

Question 8: Do you use any methods or tools to help you for tracking apart from recording?
Answer: “As far as practicing, no, but they do have like golf apps and like when you actually go to the gold courts, it will track like where your your ball goes and like how far you hit it. So I'll use statistics like that.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 9: Think about the last time you changed how you tracked your progress.What led to that change? Have you ever done any other sort of tracking for another activity?
Answer: “I can't really say that I have.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 10: Have you ever thought of taking an online course or taking classes?
Answer: “Yeah, I've definitely thought of doing golf lessons to improve my golf skills.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 11: Have you actually started your lesson? And if not, what has kept you from going into those lessons?
Answer: “I haven’t done a lesson yet. For one, it would just be time.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 12: How much time do you spend comparing the recordings or seeing much process you have made through documented this?
Answer: “It just depends on how often I go out to the driving range. So if anything, I would like to usually like to go like weekly at least, like at least once a week. So, if anything, I'll compare, like, from week to week.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 13: Have you paid for any tools, subscriptions, or services related to how you track stuff, or to let you know when you do your activities?
Answer: “No, not really.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 14: Is there anything else about your experience we haven't discussed that you would like to share?
Answer: “Not that I can think of right now.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 15: How did you get into your hobby?
Answer: “I've always been interested in golf like as a spectator point of view. I just got into it for one of my brother's friends and he plays golf a lot, too. I just got some clubs one day then slowly but little, just started like going to the golf range and then getting onto the golf course and there whenever I can.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 16: Do you like sharing your accomplishments?
Answer: “At least among people who do golf. I do have some family members who golf, I'll golf with them sometimes, and I have friends and we'll share how did we play that that day.
Tag: Behavior

Question 17:Do you if think there was app that will help track your progress, do you think you would use it?
Answer: “Yeah, well I do use this one app that tracks when you actually playing golf on the golf course. It tracks how many times you hit the ball per hole, or, like, how far you hit it, and it will pretty much it'll give you your score for that date for that round of golf.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 18: Do you know anyone else who keeps track of their hobbies or recreational activities?
Answer: “Yeah, as far as golf goes, yeah, for sure. Yeah, I know a few people, whether it's personally or non-personally.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 19 (Follow-up to Q18): And how does the tracking kind of look for them?

Answer: “They do have tape subscription, so it comes, like, with more tools. For example how hard you're hitting in the ball, so they use the physics that goes into it.
Tag: Behavior

Question 20: Have you ever tried starting a new recreational activity, and you did want to but didn’t do it, what was the reason you didn’t start that activity or hobby?
Answer: “I used to do boxing. I did get a boxing membership after some time and then I just stopped going, I didn't continue after.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 21 (Follow-up to Q19): What was the reason that you stopped going?
Answer: “Just work got in the way.”
Tag: Behavior

Question 22: And do you ever look for any resources online that could help you?
Answer: “Yeah, for sure like tutorial videos on YouTube or social media, like Instagram or wherever I can find it.”
